

The Daily Courant.

Monday, May 10 1714.

London, May 10.
On Saturday and Yesterday arrived the Mails due from Holland and France.

From the Hague Courant, dated May 14. &c.
Brussels, May 10.

AN Ingenier who was sent by our Regency to Dunkirk, to take an exact View of the Condition of the Town Forts and Harbour, has given in the following Report, which was dated the 29th of April last.

THE Fortifications of the Town of Dunkirk are intirely demolished, from the Citadel to the Canal of Furnes; and all the Ramparts and Bastions are blown up and as good as levelled. So that People enter the Town on all Sides, without passing over Bridges, or through Gates; the Place lying clear open.

Fort St. Louis, Fort Revers which had 36 Guns of 24 pound ball, the Risbanc which had 50 Guns, of 18, 24, and 36 pound ball, the two wooden Forts at the Head of the Jettées, called the Forts of Esperance which had 12 Guns of 24 pound ball, as also the Fort of the Strand, are intirely ruined.

The Gates of the Sluyces of the Bafon are taken off, and the Facing of Mafons Work is taken away, in order to the filling up of the Bafon.

The King's Ships sailed away the 24th of this Month, having the Artillery on board; the Galley-Slaves were sent away at the same time, and are to be conveyed to Marseilles. The Gallies were sold, and are broke up.

The Jettées which formed the Harbour, and extended a Mile and Half into the Sea are demolishing: The Chefts are taking to Pieces, with all the Planks and Piles, which are actually removed clear away from the Head half way to the Risbanc; which has already occasioned at the Entrance of the Harbour a Bank of Sand 3 Foot high.

The Demolition takes up Time, because 'tis endeavoured to have as much of the Materials as is possible, without breaking or damnyfying them, in order to make use of them elsewhere. 'Twas tried to draw the Piles out of the Ground with Machines; but this not succeeding, they are cut as close to the Ground as is possible, at Low-Water; and they are laid up, as are also the Planks, Iron-Bolts and the like, to be carried to the new Canal, which is actually begun.

That new Canal is to communicate with that of Furnes, and to fall into the Sea about a Quarter of a Mile from Mardyke. 'Tis to be 48 Toises broad at the Top, 35 at the Bottom, and 16 Foot deep.

13 Battallions are expected daily, to joyn the 7 which are already at Work. Besides these, the Intendant M. Le Blanc has sent circular Letters to the neighbouring Provinces, for summoning in all the Carpenters and Mafons, to the Number of 6000, in order to get the new Canal finished by the Month of November next: After which a Royal Fort, with Bafons and Sluyces, will be added to it; so that the Harbour will be as good as was that of Dunkirk, and the Town of Dunkirk will also flourish.

The 2 English Battallions which are in the Town, are to joyn that which is in the Citadel, in order to raze the Citadel when all the other Work is done.

From the Hague Courant, dated May 14.

Dunkirk, May 5. The 21 Smacks which sailed from hence with the Galley-Slaves, are arrived at Rouen. The last French Ship of War that lay here, is sailed for Cadiz and Marseilles: So that now only 4 or 5 Merchant-Ships remain here, and they are ready to put to Sea. Here are indeed some other Vessels, but they are all small Craft, and must shortly depart the Harbour; Men being hard at Work in shoaking it up.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated May 15.

Dunkirk, May 12. The ruining of the Harbour, and the demolishing of what remains of the Fortifications, is carried on with all Diligence, all being to be finished (according to Orders from Court) before the end of this Month. Men are now actually at Work on the new Harbour of Mardyke.

Dunkirk, May 6. O. S. "Yesterday the French began to Demolish on divers parts round the main Wall of the Citadel, and this Morning they are at work on it as thick as they can stand, all round the said Place on the outside of it; and on that Ravelin next the Haven: They are at work on the inside also, undermining, &c. They are employing since Friday last several Boats and Bilanders in throwing Stones and Rubbish into that part of the Harbour next the Fifth Port, within the first Barrier, where they have taken out all the Bolts and Nails for the Space of 60 Yards, and have got most of the Posts or Timber out, so that the Dam will in a little time be made, and the Shipping will in all probability be obliged to fall beyond that Place in a few Days. They have made a great Progress in the Jettées and Bafon; and Troops still continue coming, which are employed in the Demolition, and several of our People also at present work on it.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated May 15.

Cambray, May 12. Here and at Valenciennes a considerable Train of Artillery is getting ready, which is to march into the Field with our Troops who next Month are to encamp in these Parts.

From the Paris Letter, dated May 16.

Paris, May 16. The Count de Chalais is arrived from Madrid; and 'tis said he brings an Account of the Princess of Ursin's desisting from the Principality proposed for her in the Netherlands. The King and the Dauphin are in perfect Health. His Majesty having been for some Days very much troubled for the Death of the Duke of Berry, is now easie; he has forbidden the wearing at Court of white Cuffs on the Coat Sleeves, or any other distinguishing Marks of Mourning, the Sight of which might renew his Grief; and thinks only of living quietly and with a composed Mind.

Hagen, May 15. M. de Heidenfeld, Minister of the Elektor of Bavaria, having delivered to the States-General Letters of Credence on the Part of his Electoral Highness, in which that Prince takes upon him not only all the Titles belonging to his Electorate, but likewise the Title he formerly had with respect to the Spanish Netherlands, their High Mightinesses have thought fit to return those Letters to the said M. de Heidenfeld, declaring to him that they could not accept them in that Style. This Proceeding of that Prince occasions much Discourse.

From the Scots Courant, dated April 30.

Edinburgh, April 30. On Wednesday last, his Grace the Duke of Athol, Her Majesty's High Commissioner to the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland (which is to meet on Thursday the 6th of May) arrived here from London; having been met by the Lord Provost and the Magistrates of this City and several Noblemen and Gentlemen, several Miles out of Town; and Yesterday his Grace went from hence to his Country-Seat.

Dublin, May 3. On Saturday last, the Council disapproved the Persons returned as elected for Mayor and Sheriff by the Aldermen. So that we are yet without a Sheriff for this City, and consequently the Proceedings of Law are all at a Stand here; for there can be no Arrest, Attachment, &c.

London, May 10. Orders are sent to Dunkirk, that the Earls of Hertford and Orkney's Regiments which are there, should march from thence to Newport.

London, May 10.

On Saturday South-Sea Stock was 88 one half, 88 three quarters, to 88 one half, at Night to 88 one eight. Bank 121 one half, 122, to 121 one half, at Night to 121 one quarter. India 123, 123 three quarters, to 123 one half, at Night to 123. African 41.
